MOVING MIS PROVIDERS

Schools tend to change to a cloud-based MIS provider as their first digital transformation step. In this blog, Jennie Readings, HFL Education's MIS Partnership manager, offers her top tips when reviewing your MIS provider.

School Business Management

HFL

Take a whole-school view, speak to everyone that uses your MIS – does it suit their needs? What changes would they make if they could?

In her blog she shares her advice when reviewing your MIS provider. Her top three tips include:

1. Use a Framework to buy your licences - In addition to the cost savings on price, educational settings can save months in procurement time compared to running an open procedure.

2. Manage the change –As early in the process as possible, get your team on-board and identify a 'champion' to drive the change process. Investing in training and migration support from the outset will be key to a successful and smooth transition.

3. Recognise that a new system will not directly compare to the old one – A new system will have a very different look and feel. Purchase from an education-based framework to ensure that functionality is suitable for all school/MAT needs.
